In a Europe which is growing together, and as a result of globalisation, transfrontier shipments of waste play an ever bigger role.

In this context, ZEDAL provides all the necessary forms and mechanisms as a web application. The forms can be conveniently filled out, saved and archived on-screen with master data support and a plausibility check.

In the subsequent process, the use of the forms can occur as paper print-outs, by fax, by email, electronically in the data exchange format eTFS* with or without a qualified electronic signature.

The mechanism for the communication enables the user to carry out all communication avenues in the mix, in the context of which every sending process, regardless of the way in which it occurs, is recorded as a shipment item with status.

The appropriate regulatory provisions originate from the EU Waste Shipments Regulation and the Basel Convention, which governs shipments in and out of non-EU states.

The basic costs cover the unlimited creation and saving of the «Notification» form as well as all professional and technical support costs. * The eTFS format is used in the project for the transfrontier shipment of waste, as carried out by ZEDAL AG together with the «Niedersächsische Gesellschaft zur Endablagerung von Sonderabfall mbH» and the «Ministerie van Infrastructuur en Milieu» of the Netherlands. eTFS is based on the interface description of the EUDIN project which has been extended with layer technology and the digital signature. In addition to the stated project partners, IKA (the information coordinating unit waste-DV systems) was also involved in the agreement in Germany. LAG GADSYS (the shared waste-DV systems of the federal states) has now decided to extend the German authority system with the movement form which is used in the transfrontier shipment of waste on the basis of eTFS.
